"I dedicated my artistic research to photographing people's eyes to enhance the uniqueness of every human being. As part of my creative process, I interview the people I do portraits of in order to explore their inner universe. Through BLIND VISION, I put myself in the shoes of the blind to understand what it means to have the darkness ahead. Hand in hand, I have been led into a new world. I was afraid of finding a hopeless darkness, and yet it was a journey of light that enriched my soul".

Annalaura di Luggo

"....The results of Blind Vision shouldn't be perceived only as 'works of art,' as they lead us to a sublime experience of personal growth based on human interaction."
